was originally a farmstead — circa 1820s. It was converted into the Ulla Lodge by Sewall Williams, one of the first innkeepers in the Mad River Valley — opening New Year's Day 1949 to accommodate skiers at the newly created Mad River Glen.

In the early 70s, the Inn changed ownership and became the Snuggery Inn with Zach's Tavern, well known for its outrageous après ski activities and the renowned hot tub in the silo. In 1987, the Inn changed hands again. It was renovated and reopened as the Hyde Away Inn. Margaret and Bruce continue to run the Inn and Restaurant, offering 10 comfortable guest rooms and a relaxing, unpretentious atmosphere with delicious food and great spirits.
